The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventors, at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. On lines 3-4 of claim 6, the lower component comprising "a planar or substantially planar top slide surface" is not supported in the original disclosure and is in stark contrast to the slide surface 10 discussed on page 5 of the specification and illustrated in Figures 1-3.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Grundeir et al., DE 101 23 124 C1, which discloses a lower component 2 configured to be connected to a talus (Derwent abstract, lines 1-2) and forming top slide surfaces 7 and 8 (Figure 1), an upper component 1 having a planar bottom slide surface (Figure 1) and a top surface configured for connection to a tibia (drawings; Derwent abstract, line 1), and an intermediate part 3 with slide surfaces 5 and 6 and an upper planar slide surface (drawings) to facilitate limited relative rotations (Derwent abstract, lines 4-6). As seen from Figures 3, 5, and 6, the upper component 1 is wedge-shaped in a frontal section between the planar bottom slide surface and a top connection surface (i.e., the top surface of the upwardly projecting ridge). And because rim 11 extends along only three of the four peripheral sides or “edges”, anterior and posterior wedge shapes are “indicated” (in a sagittal section) by lesser thicknesses at the side or “edge” lacking rim 11 (Figure 1).

Claims 4, 7, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Grundeir et al., DE 101 23 124 C1. Wedge angles between 3° and 8° would have been obvious to the ordinary practitioner using routine analysis and experimentation in order to optimize the relative dimensions by minimizing bone removal and maximizing tibial support and/or in order to provide a range of shapes to accommodate a diversity of patients. (Note: “the upper component and the intermediate part” (e.g., claim 4, lines 1-2) are taken collectively, particularly in view of claim 7.)

The Applicant's remarks have been considered but are deemed to be moot in view of the new grounds of rejection, necessitated by the added language pertaining to the planar slide surfaces and the wedge shape. Therefore:

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a). A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
